The UTM-DU Double Masters Degree provides its registered candidates the opportunity to complete their master's degree at UTM and DU in the area of Information Assurance. This program is a collaborative effort between UTM Advanced Informatics School and Deakin University upon which after fulfilling all the requirements from both universities, the candidate will be awarded Master of Science (Information Assurance) from UTM and Master of IT (Professional) - IT Security Specialism, from Deakin University.

This Double Masters Degree program is a smart partnership that brings benefits to the candidates in terms of countless experience and global perspectives during their learning process. They will be exposed to the experts and the numerous resources from universities of two different countries. The strengths and the advantages of each university can be synergized through this program thus making it more valuable compared to other master's programs. This degree is recognized and accredited in both countries and this puts the candidates at a more advantageous position than their peers from the other programs.
